

Presents:

JIM GILL

Songs to Read! Books to Sing!

Youth services librarians and early childhood professionals will find many new ideas to enhance storytimes and children's programming. Jim demonstrates music and play that can be utilized with infants, toddlers, preschoolers, and parents.

Be prepared to Do Re Mi on your Toe Leg Knee and bring a repertoire of musical play back to the young ones at your library, school...or home.

About the presenter:

JIM GILL is best known for his music recordings and books with musical themes. His latest recording, Music Play for Folks of All Stripes, was named a 2012 Notable Children's Recording by the American Library Association/ALSC. This is Jim's fifth work to receive this honor over the years.

Jim is also a child development specialist. His goal in this session is to emphasize the many connections between music play, literacy, and various domains of early childhood development. Connections between music and early literacy become clear as Jim shares clever word play and rhymes in the context of active movement games.

Sponsored by:

Eastern Washington Association for the Education of young Children

WHEN:

Friday, March 1

Morning session:
8am–12pm

Afternoon session:
1pm–5pm

WHERE:

Moran Prairie Library
6004 S Regal St
Spokane, WA 99223

HOW:

To register, go to www.sclد.org/stars_training.asp
or call 509.893.8350